State of Mind:
I am prepared for demanding physical labour including excavation or extensive field walking.
I am prepared for temperature extremes and inclement weather (fieldwork continues in all weather so long as the ground is not obscured).
I am prepared for a culturally challenging environment, where English is not spoken and lifestyle differs dramatically from western standards.
I am ready to live under conditions that would be considered inferior by western standards (wood heat, no refrigeration, shared sleeping quarters and bathrooms).
I have an experience living and working in developing countries (if yes, list which):
I have travelled widely (list 5 countries you have visited):
I like to travel independently and even adventurously.
I respond well to pressure.
I consider myself flexible; I adapt well to the unexpected.
I have a driver's license and am willing to drive on the project.
I feel comfortable driving on primitive roads or off-road, using a manual transmission in a relatively large vehicle (7-passenger minivan).
I have driven in a Mediterranean or developing country before.
